

RUNNING THE SHOW

THE RELUCTANT LEADER

BIG FISH IN MY OWN POND

MAG: Even when you were pretty young, you were running the band. You just took on the management role. Then you moved into TV. You had to develop some really strong leadership skills to produce TV shows and manage people. How did you learn to be a leader?

STEVE: There's no more reluctant leader than me. I don't want to be a leader. I just want things to go my way. I think the whole leadership thing was based on me wanting to control my own life growing up as a kid.

The truth is, I could never see a place for myself in the world. Ever. Even today. So I had to create my own world. And then I knew that I'd find a place in that, because I'd made it.

I think that, even as a kid, if I had been able to assimilate better into society and be more normal, everything would have been different, because I would have been very comfortable with that.
