

FAMILY AND FRIENDS

---

THE INNER CIRCLE

ADVENTURES IN FATHERHOOD

MAG: You've had about thirty years to think about my next question—what's it like being a father?

STEVE: The greatest emotional moments for me have been with the kids—the kids I said I would never have.

I remember with Davy, when he was little—he wasn't more than two—and I was trying to put him into the car seat. I wanted him just to sit in the seat. I opened the door. I've got him in my arms and I put him down on the seat. And he wouldn't sit down. I thought the seat was hot but it wasn't; I had touched the seat. So I closed the door.

Opposite: Steve supervises Max and Davy on their boat, Brigadoon.